All the candidates for political office are making a great hustle these days. Next Saturday the primaries are to be held, which will settle the fate of many. The convention is to be held a week from next Friday.

Last Tuesday the board of supervisors let the contract for hospital buildings to J. N. Cohenour for the sum of $3,578.958, being the lowest bid received. Mr. Cohenour will commence work on the buildings at once.

Mrs. Foster S. Dennis returned to Kingman last Wednesday night, having performed the sad mission of taking the body of her husband to Sonoma, California, where it was interred in the family burial plot.

As David T. Price was getting aboard the train that was to convey the remains of his departed wife to the old home in Indiana, he was handed a telegram announcing the death of his father, which occurred last night in Tennessee.

Charles Metcalfe this week reported the precipitation in Kingman for the months of July, August and up to last Saturday in the month of September: July, 1.68; August, 2.39; September 12, 2.51. The precipitation last Saturday was .82, this amount falling between the hours of three and six o'clock.

K. R. Casper, one of the old time newspaper men of the coast, arrived in Kingman a few days ago from Salt Lake City, where he is employed as special representative of the Deseret News, the representative newspaper of the Mormon hierarchy. The News is getting up an edition devoted to Arizona, which will be one of the best ever gotten up by any newspaper.

Last Tuesday the passenger train on the Western Railway had a narrow escape from going into a washed out bridge a few miles south of Chloride. The engineer saw the danger in time to stop the train. The male passengers got out and cribbed up the bridges in a short time, allowing the train to pass over and go on to Chloride. A rain-storm Monday night had washed out the bridge and none of the railroad men were aware of a storm having passed over that section.

Last Saturday afternoon one of the heaviest rains of the season fell here. During the progress of the storm a great deal of hail fell, some of the stones being of immense size. Every canyon in and around Kingman was a raging torrent within a few minutes. One of Carrow brothers teams was caught in the canyon below town and one of the horses drowned, the driver extricating the other three horses by cutting the harness and getting them out of the path of the torrent. The driver, Jerome Carrow, was up to his armpits in water while trying to save the team.

Democrats Rally to Smith.

Last Thursday evening Mark Smith arrived in Kingman and was met at the station by a delegation of democrats with a brass band and escorted to the hotel. In the evening Mr. Smith spoke at Elk Hall to a big audience on the issues of the campaign. He told the story of the statehood fight, the fight in congress for the passage of bills for internal improvements in the territory and the causes that lead to their failure. He was followed attentively by the audience and received much applause. The many campaigns of Mark Smith through Arizona has brought him in contact with nearly every voter in the territory and no matter what their politics may be they one and all are pleased to greet the old campaigner. Yesterday a special train was run out to Chloride and many Kingman people went out to attend the big rally at the big lead camp. A big gathering listened to the democratic leader at the town Hall, where the Kingman band furnished music for the occasion. After the speaking a dance closed the evening's enjoyment.

Owing to fatigue Mr. Smith was compelled to forego the trip to Gold-road and Vivian.

Mrs. David Price Dead.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. David T. Price died at her home in Kingman after a lingering illness. Her mother, Mrs. M. C. Willets, arrived in Kingman a few hours after her death, having been called by wire from her home in Noblesville, Ind.

Mrs. Price had lived in Kingman several years and during that time had endeared herself to all by her good deeds and amiable disposition. She leaves a husband and six-year old son to mourn her death.

She was a member of the Pythian Sisters and the good ladies of that order did all in their power to brighten "Sorrow's Hour" and comfort the afflicted ones. Her body was prepared for shipment and accompanied by the sorrowing mother, husband and son, was taken east on the train this morning. A large number of friends and acquaintances of deceased went to the train to wish Mr. Price and Mrs. Willets Godspeed.

Sometime yesterday afternoon two prisoners slipped through one of the jail gratings and made their escape. They were two boys, held for robbing the section house at Berry. The home of one of the young criminals is in San Jose. The continual escapes of prisoners from the county jail reminds us of the early days of Yuma, when prisoners were wont to take a dinner knife and fork and carve their way to freedom through the adobe walls. Anytime a husky fellow wishes to desert the Mohave county jail all he has to do is to put his back to one of the cages and shove a hole through the walls of the building. But most of the prisoners are more considerate and only pull out the frame of one of the gratings and squeeze themselves through.

Ross H. Blakely, for many years the efficient clerk of the Fourth District Court, resigned a month ago and Monday last J. E. Perry was appointed to fill the vacancy, the appointment to take effect the first of October. Mr. Blakely had many friends while clerk of the court and all are sorry to see him go. Mr. Perry will make an able successor to Mr. Blakely.

John Ward, one of the Big Sandy ranchers, came up from his farm, near Signal, a few days ago and has been looking around the country for a market for his produce. He reports that he has fourteen hundred bales of alfalfa and barley hay at Signal, which he can ship to any desired point at a moment's notice.

C. C. Clark, of Magdalena, New Mexico, arrived in Kingman last Monday evening. He is looking this country over with a view to investing in mining property. Wednesday he went out to the Enterprise mines and will look over that part of the district.

Ed. Walker, who has been with the McCracken Hill company the past six or eight months, is in town renewing acquaintances.

O. B. Amsden and children came in from Colorado Springs last night and departed today to the Goldbug mining camp.

Miss Bessie Kissinger, of Peach Springs is stopping in Kingman and will attend the high school this winter.

Cameron Rally.

Last Sunday evening Ralph H. Cameron, republican candidate for Delegate to Congress, arrived in Kingman and was met at the train by a delegation of republicans. Later in the evening, in company of O. D. M. Gaddis and George A. Bonelli, he left for Gold Road and Vivian, where Monday morning he interviewed all the voters in that section, returning to Kingman Monday evening. Monday evening's train brought in from Prescott Attorney General E. S. Clark and District Attorney R. E. Morrison, of Yavapai county. In the evening a rally was held at Elk's Hall, Kingman people, irrespective of party, turning out to hear the speakers. T. E. McClelland was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers of the evening. Attorney General Clark was the first speaker and made one of his usual pleasing addresses, being followed by Bob Morrison who covered the ground between national to territorial issues. Mr. Morrison is one of the best talkers in the republican party. Ralph Cameron told the people what he would do if elected to congress and passed over what he considered the duties of a delegate to be. While Mr. Cameron makes no pretense to oratory he is one of the best single handed campaigners in the territory and has a wide acquaintance among all classes of people that will bring him votes where oratory would fall flat. Van Marter's band discoursed pleasing music during the evening.

Sheriff Walter Brown, last Monday and Tuesday, sold the property of the Enterprise M., D. and I. Company to Mr. Kiessig, of San Diego to satisfy the judgment of Fred Heil.

Mrs. J. de Salmard came in from a visit to the coast yesterday. Mr. Salmard met her at Needles.
